Last month's eBulletin featured the Creative Writing group at The Dene, who have been supporting Indian Futures since 2020. Below is a poem written by a member of the group, Magz:

Home

Wherever you hang your hat is home, so they say, somewhere to count your blessings at the closing of the day.

A place of sanctuary,
a port in the storm,
a space that has ambience,
is cosy and warm.

Sant Fost Market

Manoli helped to raise funds for Indian Futures at Sant Fost Market by selling second hand items including bags and aprons made from our tailoring project.

From Futuraula:

Thanks a Brunch!

'For the beginning of this new school year, we have already carried out our first action, a super solidarity breakfast. We are also preparing our Christmas raffle and we want to announce that we have up to 10 prizes.

Do not miss this raffle and follow all the news on instagram @euroaula and @indianfutures.'

Our Self-Sustainable Tailoring Project

Indian Futures started our Tailoring Project in 2020, recycling material from old saris to make aprons, surkupeis (Indian fabric purses) and other bags.

Items are sold for £8, which pays for the tailoring, postage expenses, and the final 1/3 goes towards other Indian Futures projects.

You can find us at Manor Road Gym Christmas Market on 21st December to purchase an item from our tailoring project. They make the perfect sustainable Christmas gift whilst helping support Indian Futures.
