Going Even More Sustainable

Our Tailoring Project has launched a new more sustainable way of sourcing fabric. The tailors have been spreading the word about the need for fabric, so local women can now sell their old sarees for the tailors to recycle. The response has been overwhelmingly positive, giving us not only beautiful materials to work with but also opportunities to connect with the community, share more about the project and, most importantly, help the planet by reducing fabric waste. With Christmas fast approaching, these pieces make very special gifts. You can find them via the link below the email signature. If you're local to Brighton, they're also available at Jules Emporium on New Road.

UK News

On 1st November, we hosted a curry night at Robert Lodge, welcoming 32 guests to enjoy a delicious homemade feast prepared by Sush (Trustee) and Manj. The menu featured a fragrant daal, chicken curry, paneer and vegetables, and a selection of traditional Indian sweets for dessert. Thanks to everyone's support, the event raised £400 for Indian Futures' projects.
